Dixon Woman Was Victim Of Assault On Sterling Bridge

Mrs. Leola Smiffen Appealed To Sterling Officers For Assistance

Sterling, Jan. 19.—Claiming that she was attacked by a Mexican by the name of Felix Lasos, and that he struck her thrice in the face, Mrs. Leola Smiffen of 87 Galena avenue, Dixon, appealed to the police last night for help.

The police, guided by the woman and her companion, Lena Boucher, to 211 Wallace street, where the woman declared that her assailant could be found.

The woman refused to swear out a warrant, but this morning Chief Haglock sent out Officer O'Connell to locate the woman and he found them about to board a Dixon car. Chief Haglock paid but little attention to the story of the assault, but he made it very plain that their presence in the city was not desirable.

The Smiffen woman operates a boarding house in Dixon and says she boards Mexicans and Italians. She says that the assault occurred at the north end of the First Ave. bridge.

PUNCTURE-PROOF IS CLAIM FOR NEW TIRE

MELVILLE CLARK, DEKALB MANUFACTURER, IS ITS INVENTOR

HAS TRAVELED 75,000 MILES

DeKalb, Jan. 19.—About nine years ago Melville Clark purchased an automobile. He was a man who wanted to go far—from the first he had tire trouble. Most men accept this as a necessary evil. Melville Clark did not. He looked at the casing manufacturers were furnishing—mentally dubbed them overgrown bicycle tires and started to invent a tire for his own use which would do away with the trouble and expense he had been subjected to.

Air, he realized was the ideal cushion—rubber was the only available resilient tread material. And with these two fundamentals, which his lifetime in the field of pneumatic invention had made so familiar, he started out to construct a tire which would really do the work. In away it was a selfish invention, born of a strong desire to end his own annoyance and add to personal comfort and pleasure. But irrespective of the motive behind it all, Mr. Clark has succeeded in producing and perfecting the tire which offers a solution to last question in automobilizing.

Patents were secured many years ago but Mr. Clark refused to put his new tire on the market until it had been given the most severe tests, and after these had been made and the tire was found to be a success it was marketed.

Today it is under his own car and under the cars of many other owners who are anxious to solve the tire question.

The first set of Clark tires were clumsy but the principle was proven to be right and today the tire is so manufactured that one can hardly tell the difference between it and old style tires. A set of tires has been known to travel from Chicago to New York and Boston and back again with no tire trouble and with a loss of only five pounds of pressure.

MURDER OF AMERICANS MAKES EL PASO CENTER OF AGITATION AGAINST MEXICO

Photos by American Press Association.

Nowhere in the United States have the murders of Americans in Mexico led to more indignation and agitation than in El Paso, Tex., the border city on the Rio Grande, in which many of the victims are known. El Paso, which is opposite the Mexican city of Juarez, has many Mexican inhabitants. Thomas D. Edwards, American consul at Juarez, was received with shouts of derision when he appeared in the lobby of an El Paso hotel filled with mining men. "You cannot intimidate me," he calmly told the miners, and, turning his back, he strode from the lobby. "Go back to Juarez, where you belong," the mining men shouted as they surrounded him in a threatening manner. "You are a Villa consul. You are not an American. Go to Coahuila or wherever Villa is. We have eighteen American boys he murdered. You ought to be proud of your friend." Consul Edwards asserted that protection for the massacred Americans was promised by General Gavira, commandant at Juarez, Jan. 4. He was instructed to demand of Mexican authorities the immediate protection of property of mining companies in western Chihuahua. In the pictures No. 1 shows a squad of Mexican cavalrymen, similar to the soldiers sent to apprehend and punish the murderers of the Americans. No. 2 is the railroad station at El Paso. No. 3 is a train wrecked by Mexican bandits.

ADJUSTMENT BEGUN WITH SUFFERERS IN SATURDAY'S BLAZE

W. H. DANIELS OF WESTERN ADJUSTMENT CO. HAS SETTLED SOME CLAIMS.

TOTAL LOSS ESTIMATED $55,000

Insurance On Properties Is $11,800—To Rebuild Countryman Building At Once.

W. H. Daniels of the Western Adjustment company of Chicago, arrived here Tuesday to adjust the losses from the fire in the Countryman building. He will look after the adjustment with all the insurance companies that carried risks for the occupants of the buildings who sustained any loss. As near as can be estimated today the total loss will be about $55,000, covered by $11,800 insurance.

Mr. Daniels started work at once and by this morning had settled some of the claims. The loss on the Countryman building will be about the last to be settled, as Contractor Baum is figuring on the cost of replacing the building in its former condition. The building was valued at $30,000. The front wall is slightly bulged and will have to be razed and a few feet on the side and back walls will likely have to come down. It will probably take until Saturday to get the estimate. After the fire loss is adjusted Mr. Countryman and his wife expect to leave for a few weeks' stay in Florida. He will have plans drawn for remodeling the building, which he may have done.

CUTS KENT'S PENALTY $90 AFTER ARGUMENT OF CASE ON TUESDAY AFTERNOON

OTHER CASES UP LATER IN TERM

Present Jury May Not Get To Hear Any Cases—New Jury Next Monday

The case of the People vs. Horace Cartwright was taken up in the circuit court on Tuesday afternoon. A warrant had been sworn out for the defendant following the automobile accident Labor day at the intersection of North Galena avenue and Chamberlain street, when three cars came together and several persons were injured, in which young Cartwright was charged with violating the state law as to the speed with which he was driving his car at the time of the accident. He pleaded guilty to the charge before Magistrate W. G. Kent and was fined $100. An appeal of the case was taken by the defendant to the circuit court and the appeal was taken up for hearing yesterday afternoon. Justice James H. Cartwright, of the Supreme court, father of the defendant, appeared in court in behalf of his son and argued the case before the court and he was adjudged to pay a fine of $10 and costs of prosecution. The hearing in the cases of Fred Hermsmiller and William Wilson, drivers of the other two cars, arrested on the charge of speeding which have been carried to the higher court, will come up later in the term.

The appeal case of Oscar Boone, who had also been found guilty by a jury of violating the speed limit in operating his car and fined $25 and costs, was set for trial tomorrow before a jury but an agreement has been reached to try the case before a jury.

"It ought to be made impossible for any man or corporation to make money out of war," the senator said. With out discussing preparedness in detail, Cummins said "he believed that some where between the armed camp of William of Germany and the open dove-cote of William of Nebraska, there must be an honorable abiding place for a great nation, prepared to lead the world toward peace but which will not submit to injustice or indignity."

PHONE SERVICE TO BE RESUMED WITHIN 2 WEEKS

NEW SWITCHBOARD ON WAY—IS SAME SIZE AS ONE DESTROYED.

THIRD FLOOR SCHULER BUILDING

Company Decides to Rent Quarters for Next Year—Work Has Been Started.

The entire telephone service will be in service within two weeks. Manager Pitcher, who returned Tuesday afternoon from Chicago, where he went to get a switchboard and crew of installers, made the statement this afternoon, and already men are at work preparing the third floor of the Schuler building, First street and Galena avenue, for the installation of the board—for it has been determined to rent these quarters rather than the firemen's room in the city hall.

The change in location was decided upon when it was learned that it will be nearly a year before the telephone company will be able to get into its new building; a force of ten men are at work today and with the arrival of the new switchboard tonight or tomorrow fifteen more men will arrive from Chicago.

As fast as phones are connected with the new board they will be put into service and it is probable the greater part of the system will be in operation within a week.

To Give Same Service

While in Chicago Mr. Pitcher purchased a new switchboard of the same capacity as the one destroyed in the fire, 1200 line, and it was shipped from the factory Tuesday evening. Upon its arrival in Dixon it will be at once unloaded and taken to the new quarters, where the force of electricians will immediately start setting it up, the cables will be extended and the work of connecting the lines will be started.

Is Quickest Solution

After investigating the matter thoroughly in Chicago Manager Pitcher determined that the quickest solution of the question was in the purchase of the new switchboard, although it is the most expensive course, since the switchboard which has just been purchased will have to be "junked" in about a year when the company's new building will probably be ready for occupancy. A new switchboard, which will be the fourth the company has purchased in eleven years, will be provided for the new building.

Has Blue Prints

Although one set of the blue prints for the switchboard in the new building were lost in the fire, Manager Pitcher has a duplicate copy of them which were returned Tuesday from a manufacturer to whom they had been submitted and it will not be necessary to have new prints made. The specifications, however, which had been completed and were ready to be typewritten, were lost, but the manager has the details well in mind and will be able to reproduce them without difficulty.

MOVING PICTURES.

One day Edison caught sight of the camera which had hitherto had an easy time but from that moment it was loomed. Edison harnessed it up with a set of gears and a revolving shutter and set it to work photographing history, speed, travel, romance and humor.

As soon as this was done moving pictures became enormously popular. The moving picture theatre immediately leaped into being and began to compete with the street car and the cigar store for the nickels of the populace. In consequence the limited supply of five-cent pieces became so overworked that a nickel which doesn't register at three tills each day is loafing on its job.

Moving pictures are making us acquainted with the world and familiar with the great men of all times. The scenery of Java, Sahara and Siberia are chestnuts to us, though we may never have traveled 160 miles on a railroad train. For five cents we can see King Solomon quarrel with fifty wives, in colors. We have seen so many battleships launched, kings crowned and buried, highwaymen treed, pugilists demolished, tigers shot and mountain peaks scaled that most of us are extremely blasé and the trees on the streets would have to walk arm in arm to get more than a yawn out of us. This the trees will never actually do, but they are likely to do anything on a moving picture film, which is a great assistance to nature, sometimes.

In moving pictures we may also see ferocious Indians chasing the brave hero down a macadam road and barbed wire against a trolley pole; we may likewise discover the temperamental cowboys capturing a Mexican horse thief and lynching him in the wilderness around the corner from a hat factory in New Jersey. This teaches us not to believe all the moving picture tells us. It is, in fact, one of the most accomplished of liars. It is possible in a moving picture factory to make a magnificent and awe-inspiring volcano out of a pile of sand, a roman candle and a barrel of soapuds.

More people are watching moving pictures today than are watching choruses girls, which is a sign that the world is getting better. The picture melodrama is not a brain-strengthening but it is an improvement over the old "ten, twenty, thirty" variety because the audience cannot hear the remarks of the characters. Moving pictures have been taken of practically everything in the world, including the pyramids and Washington's monument, but no one has taken a moving picture of a baggageman accommodating a crowd of hurried passengers. A standing or even sitting picture can handle this subject perfectly.

PLUG CHEWING A WHOLESOME HABIT

In No Other Way Can You Get All the Richness and Flavor of the Leaf

"SPEAR HEAD" BEST CHEW

Many prominent physicians declare chewing to be the most wholesome way of enjoying tobacco.

"I began chewing some years ago," said one, "and I soon found that it is the only way to get the benefit of all the rich juices stored up by nature in the tobacco leaf. I refer, of course, to the plug form of tobacco, which is the most natural and the cleanest form."

"Chewing good tobacco like Spear Head makes the salivary glands more active, which in turn has a beneficial effect on the whole system. Add to this the sweet, mellow, delicious flavor of a chew of Spear Head, and you have the highest possible degree of tobacco satisfaction."

"I mention Spear Head because I have found that this brand is exceptionally pure, being made in a factory that's run strictly according to pure-food rules."

Spear Head is made of sun-ripened Burley, which is acknowledged to be the richest, mildest, finest flavored tobacco leaf in the world. And it is produced by the latest processes, which develop the quality and luscious flavor of the choice Burley to the supreme degree.

A chew of Spear Head has a wholesome relish that is not found in any other chewing tobacco. Try a 5c or 10c cut.

VETERAN TELEGRAPH OPERATOR IS RETIRED

WHITE HAired VETERAN AT STATE CAPITAL TO QUIT
FEBRUARY 1ST.

Springfield, Jan. 19.—After 43 years of continuous service with the Western Union Telegraph Co., 25 of which have been spent in Springfield as manager of the local office, Capt. John B. Inman has been notified that his request for retirement has been granted, effective February 1.

The white hair and grizzled moustache of Captain Inman have become familiar to scores of state officials, legislators and newspaper men sent here during the last quarter of a century to cover the news of the state capital, and more than one of them has marveled at his unfailing good nature. Political history has been made under his eyes, for during sessions of the legislature Captain Inman has always made his headquarters in the house of representatives near the speakers rostrum, usually in the press box. United States Senators and many governors of the state have been glad to list themselves as Captain Inman's friends and most of them were addressed by him by their first names.

During the civil war Captain Inman served as an officer of the signal corps of the Union army.

With Mrs. Inman he is planning to spend the early days of his liberty from the telegraph wires in the Rocky mountains. Later he plans to return to Springfield to resume his residence here.

PRINCE ALBERT
the national joy smoke

Don't slip!
It's easy to change the shape and color of unsalable brands to imitate the Prince Albert tidy red tin, but it is impossible to imitate the flavor of Prince Albert tobacco! The patented process protects that!

FIRST thing you do right away is to answer this fair-to-you question:—
Why is Prince Albert tobacco universally distributed and universally smoked?
And if the answer isn't on the front-end of your tongue; if you don't feel it just galloping right out of your think-division, get-going for the nearest store that sells tobacco. Invest 5c or 10c for a test-out!
You'll get the answer, all right!
And you'll know more about where you and your tongue and throat stand on the pipe and cigarette makin's question in a mighty short time! Sure as you are a foot high! The patented process fixes that—and cuts out bite and parch.
Men who have never smoked a pipe or rolled a cigarette have something mighty fine coming. For P. A. is the first-hand-pal of every man who is willing to have it proved to his satisfaction that here is tobacco that the man with the tenderest tongue and throat can smoke his fill with a relish! Will you take our word for it?

Phidian Art Club
One of the best meetings held by the Phidian Art club during this year was that of yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. A. Ahrens of Peoria avenue. There were twenty five present. In the absence of the president, Mrs. C. H. McKenney, the meeting was presided over by Mrs. Z. W. Moss.

The paper of the afternoon was given by Mrs. Eugene Raymond on "The Constitution and its Framers." Her paper was very ably handled and she showed very distinctly that it is the best constitution in the world.

The constitution was drawn up by the leading men of the day, among them being Benjamin Franklin, 51 years of age at the time. The men sat in secret session for five months before the agreement was signed. This paper was followed by an article from the Literary Digest on the "Widener Art Collection of Philadelphia," read by Mrs. E. E. Wingert. The collection is an art gallery in itself, covering one floor in the Widener art palace there in Philadelphia. In it are found the world's greatest masterpieces, for which Mr. Widener paid fabulous sums. He died recently and left the collection for the city of Philadelphia, if they so wish it. In formal talks were then given on Philadelphia by the different members who had visited there, Mrs. M. H. Vaile, Mrs. Z. W. Moss, Miss Anna Geisenheimer, Miss Dimick and Miss Woodbridge.

The next meeting of the club will be in the form of a luncheon at the Nachusa Tavern, Feb. 1st. Members are requested to notify the program committee as to their attendance on that day.

After the meeting yesterday, refreshments were served. Mrs. E. E. Wingert and Mrs. E. M. Goodsell presided at the table in the dining room.—Press Correspondent.

25 CENTS DESTROYS YOUR DANDRUFF AND STOPS FALLING HAIR

Save your hair! Make it thick, wavy and beautiful—try this.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance, an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Mrs. Merton Ransom returned to her home in South Dixon yesterday after a week end visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Vaile.

St. Ann's Guild

St. Ann's Guild will meet with Mrs. John Cummins Friday at 2:30. Members are requested to be present as there is important business to be attended to.

OLD AND NEW WAY TO TREAT CATARRH

Breathing a Germ Killing Air Endorsed By Actual Results

The discovery of Hyomei has wrought a wonderful change in the treatment of catarrh.

Prior to three years ago the medicines ordinarily employed in the cure of this disease were drugs, sprays, lotions, etc. In some instances they benefited, but the improvement was not lasting.

With Hyomei you take into the air passages of your throat and head a balsamic air that goes into the minutest cells, and should effectually kill all germs and microbes of catarrh. Its purpose is to enter the blood with the oxygen, killing the germs in the blood, and restore health to the whole system. Many astonishing testimonials have been received from those who have been helped by Hyomei.

A complete outfit is inexpensive, and includes an inhaler, dropper and sufficient Hyomei for several weeks' treatment.

Perhaps the strongest evidence that can be given to doubters, is the fact that Rowland Bros. have so much faith in Hyomei that they sell every package under a positive guarantee to refund the money if it does not relieve.

JANUARY 19 1916

NEED OF PROTECTION ADMITTED.

Dr. Thomas H. Norton of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, says in the New York Annalist for January 3rd: "In a more or less unrecognized way we have brusquely been forced to recognize the unwisdom, the folly, of shipping vast amounts of the crude materials of our forests, mines and farms three thousand miles across the ocean, and then buying them back in a manufactured form, at a greatly enhanced price."

This forced recognition must be of very recent date insofar as it may have affected the minds of free trade democrats. That school of economic thought which so long has advocated the sale of our crude materials to European manufacturers to be made up and returned to the American market under low duty rates, counted a large number of adherents up to about a year ago. Did they desert their philosophy when Secretary Redfield and other tariff wreckers became panic-stricken at the havoc they had wrought and the prospect of a deluge of European and Oriental goods which would overwhelm this country following the war? With their heads they had butted the protective wall into a scrap heap. A wave of imports surged in extinguishing the fires of our domestic furnaces. The war came on and a higher barrier than ever protection contemplated was vouchsafed the American manufacturer and farmer for a brief space, and a spotted prosperity set in. But, although the war acts as a temporary barrier to keep out European goods, so is it a dam behind which huge stores are accumulating, ready to burst upon the world's richest market when peace is declared. And it should be borne in mind that the dam is on the foreign side, while the republican protective policy is on our side of the oceans.

While it is doubtless true that we sell abroad more crude materials for use in manufacture under a low duty tariff than under a protective policy, it is equally true that the benefits derived by producers of raw materials are less under free trade than under protection. Protection affects every industrial fiber of this country beneficially. All share in the prosperity which it creates. During the fiscal year 1913, under a republican tariff, we exported crude materials to the value of $732,000,000. During 1914, nine months under the democratic tariff, they amounted to $793,000,000. This increase which would have been used at home in prosperous times, was due to the fact that a low duty tariff facilitated the capture of our market by our foreign rivals, extending their activities, and created a larger demand for raw materials, which they filled in part from our supply. Foreigners paid freight on them, made them up with pauper-paid labor, and the price of the manufactures to importers in this country, included these two items, plus a profit. The importers added a profit, and the return freight, and they entered our market in competition with goods made in America. The competition closed our mills, but the consumers reaped no benefit, for the cost of living went up, instead of down, as the democrats promised.

The war has temporarily curtailed certain imports—from Germany, our greatest rival, almost wholly; from England in a lesser degree. From the Orient they have increased. Our manufacturers have taken up the production of certain articles for which, due to foreign combinations, we were entirely dependent on foreign countries. Dr. Norton concludes: "American capital and skill and enterprise and genius are pluckily taking great chances. They are confidently hoping that the nation's law givers will promptly grant them statutory protection against the danger of unrestricted, unfair competition, on the part of foreign rivals, when international exchanges again become normal. It is the only danger they fear."

The rock of their salvation must be the republican party and its policy of protection, and not the democratic party which has done so much to demoralize domestic industries.

TEMPTATIONS IN MIDDLE LIFE.

"The temptations of middle life are deadlier than those of early manhood," says Dr. Charles Allen Dinsmore in the Episcopal Recorder. This is part of an explanation as to why "so many good men break down in the midst of the years."

That middle age has its peculiar temptations is a comparatively modern discovery. We are all fairly fixed in the theory that most people are pretty well "settled down" by 40.

Those who were properly trained in their youth in the way they should go are supposed to be following the straight path in middle life. The untrained are supposed to have fallen by the wayside in youth or to have profited by their experiments in folly, if they have survived them.

And on the whole, this ancient theory holds true.

The last of life is a sequel to the first of life.

The young man who accustoms himself to put temptations aside will not succumb to them suddenly at any later time.

Those who break under temptation at 40 must always have a few screws of their moral mechanism loosening up somewhere.

PIITY THE POOR AUTO OWNER.

President Wilson now intends to put a tax on automobile owners, under the impression that automobile owners are so affluent that they can well afford to pay the taxes and let the poor man go exempt. President Wilson is wrong. He hasn't been out of the school long enough to get wise to certain worldly things. A lot of fellows who own automobiles are so poor that they have to pawn the sideboard to buy a tire or fill the gasoline tank. The very fact that a man owns an automobile is apt to be the fundamental cause of his dire poverty. If there is anything on earth that is calculated to make a man poor it is an automobile. Doc Wilson rides in a government machine and the tax payers pay for the "juice" and the blow-outs. He has a lot to learn. We suggest that if he is going to pick on anybody, it ought to be the garage men and automobile manufacturers.

The editor of the Gazette down in St. Joseph, Missouri, makes the significant remark that Colonel Roosevelt has received a very enthusiastic invitation from the democrats to become the presidential candidate of the G. O. P.

He Drilled Until His Poor Beak Ached.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

How Mr. Woodpecker Saved His Friend, Molly Cottontail.

ONCE upon a time, daddy began the bedtime story. "There was a red-headed woodpecker that lived in Uncle Ben's woods and was very fond of a young girl rabbit, Miss Molly Cottontail. They had the greatest fun going about the lovely groves together. They knew every bypath and hollow chestnut and bug home in the woods. But one day while they were out strolling what do you think they came across?"

The children guessed everything but the right one. So daddy told them: "One of Bobbie's traps! The boys had taken the greatest care making it out of a small dry goods box, with a door on hinges at one end, so that anything that went inside and nibbled an apple tied to a string would spring the trap door. Then they set it right in the pleasantest rabbit runway under some snowbound alder bushes. Well, as Mr. Woodpecker and Miss Molly were out for a walk one beautiful sunny morning Molly suddenly cried: 'I smell apples! Let's find 'em!' So they scampered all around till they found the little wooden house so attractively set in their path. 'Oh, what a charming little home to begin housekeeping in!' hinted Miss Molly, walking right inside. Bang! went the trapdoor the instant her sharp teeth settled into Bobbie's apple. She was just as much a prisoner as if she had been in a high tower."

"What did her beau do?" asked Evelyn.

"Poor Mr. Woodpecker got terribly excited. He flapped his beautiful new black wings, begged his sweetheart to come out, knowing all the time that she couldn't, and dashed round and round the fatal little house. Then he set his wits to work, wits as sharp as his long black bill that Mother Nature gave him to drill bugs out of tree bark all the long, frozen, hungry winter. He squatted right down in the snow before the trap door and drilled and drilled till his poor beak ached and bled. But the wood was soft pine and his love for Miss Molly great. So he kept at it till a small round hole big enough for Miss Molly to crawl through came in the trap door, and finally the piece he drilled dropped right into the snow beside him. 'Oh, Molly, dear, jump out!' he shouted. And out Molly dashed, bringing Bobbie's apple with her. So, arm in arm, off they scampered through Uncle Ben's pleasant woods, happy as any two sweethearts," daddy finished.

"Oh, daddy, what a nice story!" cried Evelyn.

"Did Bobbie set his trap again?" Jack wanted to know.

"I believe he did," said daddy, "but you may be sure he never caught Miss Molly and Mr. Woodpecker again!"

And the children gave daddy two hugs and three kisses.

Dramatic Notes

PRINCESS THEATRE

Tonight Manager Slothower will afford the theatre a rare treat in two features of exceptional merit. A two reel Keystone comedy, "Lovers Lost Control" with Mable Normand, Roscoe Arbuckle, Chester Conklin and an all star cast of Keystone players will be seen together with the famous police force and the firemen's brigade. This comedy is a laugh from start to finish, with some of the most uproarious scenes ever put on the screen. The other feature is an American drama in two parts, "Matching Dreams," with Vivian Rich and Alfred Vosburg in the leading roles, a story of love and devotion splendidly portrayed by the American Film Co. This feature abounds in splendid stage settings and scenic effects and is said to be of par excellence.

OPERA HOUSE.

Although there may be nothing new under the sun, there may be something new under the calcium. This applies to the J. C. Rockwell Sunny South Co. which will make its appearance at the Dixon opera house tonight. Anyone whose musical palate is not tickled, their sense of humor satisfied and their conception of dainty art pleased after viewing this performance can safely lay claim to being the perennial grouch. It is one of these performances that grips the audience by its daintiness and cleverness and it does not depend on the usual slap sticks nor threadbare pokes to do it. The company is composed of about 25 colored people and they will endeavor to drive Dull Care down the back alley. The secret is that it excites laughter and this, if taken in time and sufficient doses is a sure cure for the blues. The performance is a continuous laugh and is sparkling with new, novel and entertaining features and is brim full of laughable situations, excellent specialties and charming musical numbers. There isn't enough plot to cause any worryment but as a medium for getting mighty good vaudeville stunts before the public the Sunny South serves its purpose. As a matter of fact it is scarcely more than a stringing together of clever specialties, done by clever performers which will make the most fastidious seeker after amusement sit up and take notice.

The organization is accompanied by a superb orchestra and a solo and concert band. The band will head the Kootown parade, taking place at noon.

FAMILY THEATRE

The Family theatre patrons will enjoy a big double bill this evening consisting of David Belasco's successful play of "The Girl of the Golden West" in which this wonderful girl plays a game of cards for her lover's life and wins. The play shows a mining town during the '49 gold rush and all the wonderful western scenery. Edmund Breese in "The Song of the Wage Slave" in five parts, the story being a distinct departure from the ordinary run of motion pictures and teems with tense situations that thrill. The vaudeville for the evening will consist of W. Felton in "Fun in a Gymnasium;" Edward & Louise, singing and comedy and The DeLux Sextette in opera and rag time.

INJURED ITALIAN IS BETTER

However, Louis Merigo's Sight May Not Be Saved.

The condition of Louis Merigo, the Italian who was severely hurt by the explosion of a box of dynamite caps which he was opening at the cement plant Monday afternoon, is reported to be considerably improved today, although it is not yet possible to determine whether his sight can be saved. His legs were peppered with the small pieces of metal from the caps, and it will be some time before all of these particles can be removed.

KIDNEY TROUBLE LEADS TO TERRIBLE TROUBLES

Hundreds of sufferers from pains in the back and sides, bladder and urinary disorders, lumbago, rheumatism, dizziness, puffy swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, nervousness, tired or worn-out or headache feeling, don't seem to realize that the greater part of all sickness today can be avoided by keeping the kidneys working properly. If you suffer from any of the many agonies that accompany weak, clogged-up or diseased kidneys you should not neglect yourself another day and run the risk of serious complications. Secure a package of Solvax, the wonderful new kidney remedy, which is very inexpensive yet acts quickly and surely on the seat of the trouble. You'll be surprised how entirely different you'll feel in a very short time.

It doesn't matter how long you have suffered, how old you are or what you have used. The very principle of Solvax is such that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without beneficial results.

Solvax has been so universally successful that Rowland Bros. will in future sell it under a positive guarantee of relief or refund the money.

CHAPTER XXIII—He finds Lucy, who denounces him, leaving him to think that she is in league with the Pack.

CHAPTER XXIV—Lanyard carries a fare into a taxi.

CHAPTER XXV—The fare turns out to be Wertheimer, who advises him to wait for the morning and proposed to join forces with him. Lanyard refuses.

CHAPTER XXVI.

War.

Lanyard, weary with futile cruising, and being in the neighborhood of the Madeleine, sought the cab-rank there and moodily took his place at its end, silencing the motor and re-lapsing into morose reflection so profound that nothing about him claimed place in his consciousness.

Thus it was that a brace of furtive things were able to slouch down the rank, scrutinizing it covertly, but in detail, pause opposite Lanyard's car under pretext of lighting cigarettes, identify him to their satisfaction, and take themselves hastily off—all without his knowledge.

And not until they had quite disappeared did the driver of the cab ahead dare warn him.

Lounging back carelessly, the latter looked the adventurer over inquisitively.

"It is, then," he inquired civilly, when Lanyard at length glanced around, annoyed by subconsciousness of the other's stare, "that you are in the bad books of that good General Popinot, my friend?"

"Oh—what's that you say?" Lanyard exclaimed, showing a countenance of blank misapprehension.

The man nodded wisely.

"He who is at odds with Popinot," he observed, "does well not to sleep in public. You did not see those two who passed just now and took your number—rats of Montmartre, if I know my Paris! You were dreaming, my friend, and it is my impression that only the presence of those two flies over the way prevented your immediate assassination. If it were you, I should go away very quickly, and never stop till I had put stout walls between myself and Popinot."

A chill of apprehension sent a shiver stealing down Lanyard's spine.

"You're sure?"

"But of a certainty, my old one!"

"A thousand thanks."

Jumping down, the adventurer cracked the motor, sprang back to his seat, and was off like a hunted hare.

And when, more than an hour later, he brought his panting car to a pause in a quiet and empty back street of the Auteuil quarter, after a course that had involved the better part of Paris, it was with the conviction that he had beyond question shaken off pursuit—had there, in fact, been any attempt made to follow him.

He took advantage of that secluded spot to substitute false numbers for those he was licensed to display; then, at more sedate pace, followed the line of the fortifications northward as far as La Muette, where, branching off, he sought and made a circuit of two sides of the private park enclosing the home of Mme. Omber.

But the mansion showed no lights, and there was nothing in the aspect of the lodge and carriage entrance to lead him to believe that the chate-laine had as yet returned to Paris.

Now the night was still young, but Lanyard had his cab to dispose of and not a few other essential details to arrange before he could take definite steps toward the reincarnation of the Lone Wolf.

Picking a most circumspect route across the river—via the Pont Mirabeau—to the all-night telegraphic bureau in the Rue de Grenelle, he dispatched a cryptic message to the minister of war, then with the same pains he would notice made back toward the and surmised that at last the police had given chase.

And then, on a slight down grade, though he took it at perilous speed and seemed veritably to ride the wind, the pursuing machine, aided by its greater weight, began to close in still more rapidly. Momentarily the hoarse roaring of its motor sounded more loud and menacing. It became a mere question of seconds.

Then inspiration of despair came to him, as wild as any that was ever conceived by brain of man.

They approached a point where a dense plantation walled the road on the left. To the right, a wide footwalk of asphalt separated the drive from a gentle declivity, sown with saplings, running down to the lake.

Rising in his place, Lanyard slipped from under him the heavy water-proof cushion that fitted the seat.

Then, edging over to the left of the middle of the road, abruptly he shut off power and applied the brakes with all his might.

From its terrific speed the taxicab came to a stop almost within its length.

Lanyard was thrown forward against the wheel, but having braced in anticipation, escaped injury and effected instant recovery.

The car of the Apaches was upon him in a pulse beat. With no least warning of his intention, De Morbihan had no time to employ brakes. Lanyard saw its dark shape flash past the windows of his cab and heard a shout of triumph. Then, with all his might, he flung the heavy cushion across that scant space, directly into the face of De Morbihan.

It flew straight and true.

In alarm, unable to comprehend the nature of that great, dark, whirling mass, De Morbihan attempted to lift a warning elbow. He was too slow—the cushion caught him full force on the side of the head, and before he could recover or guess what he was doing, he had twisted the wheel sharply to the right.

The car, running at little less than locomotive speed, shot like a projectile from a cannon's mouth across that strip of sidewalk, caught its right fore wheel against a sapling, swung heavily broadside to the drive, and turned completely over as it shot down the gentle slope to the lake.

The terrific crash of this catastrophe was followed by a hideous chorus of oaths, shrieks, cries and groans.

Promptly Lanyard started his motor anew and, trembling in every limb, ran on for several hundred yards. But time pressed, and the usefulness of his car was at an end as far as he was concerned; there was no saying how many times its identity might not have been established in the course of that wild chase through Paris, or how soon the police might contrive to overhaul and apprehend him; and as soon as a bend in the road shut off the scene of the wreck, he stopped finally, jumped down, and plunged headlong into the dark midnight heart of the Bois, seeking its silences where trees stood thickest and lights were few.

Later, like some furtive, worried creature of the night—panting, disheveled, his rough clothing stained and muddled—he slunk across an open space a mile from his point of disappearance, dropped cautiously down to the dry bed of the moat, climbed as stealthily the slippery side of the fortifications, darted across the inner boulevard, and began to describe a wide arc to his destination, the Omber house.

Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Police who are accustomed to feel ill and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and setting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, biliousness, stomach trouble, rheumatism, skin eruptions, sallow skin, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

How to Make Fudge That Is Real Fudge.

Two squares of chocolate, one and one-half cupsful of sugar, one cupful of milk; melt these; a large piece of butter, one teaspoonful of vanilla. Boil until it forms a ball in water. After removing from the stove put a scant tablespoonful of cream in the fudge and stir a few minutes. This makes it smooth and creamy. Just before the fudge is done put in a cupful of chopped walnuts or one-half cupful of raisins. For a change pour half the fudge on a buttered dish and over that a layer of marshmallows, then the rest of the fudge.

How to Transfer Feathers From One Pillow to Another.

First soap well the inside of the new case with a cake of soap only just barely moistened. Then sew the case up, leaving an opening just large enough to allow the feathers to pass in easily. Then open a space in the old case exactly the same size and sew the two together. The feathers can then be passed from the old case to the new one without any mess whatever.

IT WAS A BIG ORDER.

But He Caught His Breath in Time to Save the Situation.

That familiar things have different names in different countries was discovered by an Englishman while he was visiting the United States. Thus he tells the story of the watermelons:

I was eating dinner in an eastern city and saw on the menu, "Watermelon." We have watermelons in England, but they are what you in America call "muskmelons." Therefore I called the waiter and said, "Bring me two watermelons."

The dusky waiter's eyes grew large, and he protested:

"But, sah, you don't want two watermelons?"

I am not accustomed to have waiters tell me what I want. I knew perfectly well what I wanted. I saw some people at the next table smile at each other, and I was vexed. Therefore I replied to the waiter with much dignity: "I want two watermelons."

"I GAVE MY ORDER."

The waiter seemed about to protest again, but I gave him a cold, steely look, and he thought better of it and went away. While he was gone I looked round and found every one within hearing distance smiling curiously. Looking further, I saw another waiter setting down before another man a plate containing an immense round of something green outside and bright red within. Then I spied my own waiter returning, bearing on each upturned palm an immense green oval. No wonder the people smiled! The smile was about to become a laugh. I thought I should die! Then an idea came to me! When the waiter reached my place I looked at his burden quite judicially, tapped each of those elephantine "watermelons," and then I gave my order in a calm, decided tone:

"Bring me a slice from this one."—YOUTH'S COMPANION.

Life's Battle.

He who is silent is forgotten; he who stops is overwhelmed, distanced, crushed; he who ceases to grow greater becomes smaller; he who leaves off gives up.—Henri Frederic Amiel.

Can't Please Everybody.

The manager of an asbestos mill conceived a novel idea for his announcements. He had them printed on thin asbestos and inclosed in envelopes of the same material. As he was uncertain of the correct addresses of some of the stockholders, he ordered his stenographer to write on each envelope "Please Forward."

The idea was clever, but one may appreciate the feelings of the widow of one of the stockholders when she received an asbestos envelope addressed to her late husband with the inscription "Please Forward" beneath the address.

Too Suggestive.

A professor at Columbia said one day to a roomful of auditors:

"Chronological coherence in ideas is much to be desired, but there are times when it becomes too suggestive. For instance, I once heard a minister make the following announcement at one of his Sunday services:

"The funeral of the late and much lamented sexton takes place on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Thanksgiving services will be held in this chapel on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock."—Washington Post.

Military Economy.

A Confederate officer, serving under Jackson at second Manassas, was severely wounded in a charge. Just about that time the Confederate ammunition was running so low that the soldiers were meeting the Union charges with stones. The wounded officer lay on the field, and presently a surgeon and stretcher bearer found him. After an examination the surgeon commanded the bearers to carry the officer off to the ambulance.

"Easy, boys," he said, "the man's got three bullets in him."

The officer was just conscious enough to hear one of the bearers growl:

"Three bullets? Great Scott, don't put him in the ambulance; lead him in the ammunition wagon!"—New York Post.

GRAY HAIR BECOMES DARK, THICK, GLOSSY

Look years younger! Try Grandma's recipe of Sage and Sulphur and nobody will know.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautiful, dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

"This magazine refers to the Mississippi as the queen of rivers," said Mrs. Gabb.

"Why not the king of rivers?"

"The writer evidently knows what he is talking about," growled Mr. Gabb.

"The Mississippi is always running off at the mouth, and you can't dry it up."

Our Daily Special.

A big bank roll covereth a multitude of sins.

Luke McLuke Says—

There are mighty few men who know the difference between a principle and a prejudice.

What has become of the old fashioned congressman who used to stand by the common people by refusing to wear a full dress suit?

Silent contempt may not be as satisfactory as the verbal kind. But it saves a man many a black eye.

We don't know much. But we do know that the man who wants to wait until New Year's day to climb on the water wagon isn't going to ride very far.

Another good thing to remember as you bull your way through life is that the man who knows most about a subject is the one who says the least about it.

After a man has provided his wife with a place in which she can do housework for her board he can't see what more she could ask for.

After father has fussed and wrangled with mother for two hours father always winds up by saying, "Oh, only a dod gum fool would argue with a woman!" and goes out and slams the door behind him.

Once in awhile a woman is so hard up for something to brag about that she will feel real proud because her husband can eat two dozen raw oysters at a time.

A man likes to tell you what he would do if he had a million dollars. But he is a wall eyed liar. He wouldn't do anything of the kind. He would hog it and try and make another million out of it.

A good fellow is a man who gets as much pleasure out of feeding nickels to his children as he gets out of feeding nickels to a slot machine.

The old fashioned farmer who used to wear long whiskers now has a son who has to shave clean because the whiskers got tangled up in the steering wheel of his filver.

Patriotism and politics both begin with "p." But aside from that they have nothing in common.

FEAR HOOF PLAGUE IS BACK IN ILLINOIS

State Inspectors Going Through Christian County Farms.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 19.—Christian county is the center of the activities of inspectors for the state livestock commission following the discovery that a herd of hogs was slaughtered at East St. Louis by federal inspectors on suspicion that they were infected with the foot-and-mouth disease.

After consulting Governor Dunne, Dr. Dyson, state veterinarian, gave orders forbidding the shipment of "stockers" or "feeders" from the East St. Louis yards. Inspectors are canvassing the county searching for diseased animals. Bradley, owner of the slaughtered hogs, said the bloody condition of his hogs' feet was due to their having been frozen. The state inspectors found that some of his cattle were in the same condition. It is feared by state officials, however, that the disease, which they thought had just been eradicated, has gained a foothold in Christian county.

Westville, Ill., Chief of Police Is Sent to Prison.

Danville, Ill., Jan. 19.—Joseph Jakonis, ten years chief of police of Westville and leader of the Lithuanian Colony of Eastern Illinois, pleaded guilty in the circuit court to embezzling the license and special tax money of the village, amounting to about $2,800, and was sentenced to an indeterminate term in the Chester prison. Jakonis achieved additional notoriety by escaping from custody three times, the last time leaping from a moving train while being returned to Danville after he had jumped his bail bond.

Sends President Unique Quilt.

Mount Morris, Ill., Jan. 19.—Mrs. Benjamin Ridenour, eighty-two years old, has sent to President Wilson and his bride a silk quilt made by herself with great skill and patience. The quilt, which is composed of hundreds of small pieces of silk sewed together, is of red, white and blue, the colors of the national flag.

IT'S SURPRISING

THAT SO MANY DIXON PEOPLE FAIL TO RECOGNIZE KIDNEY WEAKNESS

Are you a bad back victim? Suffer twinges; headaches, dizzy spells?

Go to bed tired—get up tired? It's surprising how few suspect the kidneys.

It's surprising how few know what to do. Kidney trouble needs kidney treatment.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys only. Have convinced Dixon people of their merit.

Here's a Dixon case: Dixon testimony. Kidney sufferers hereabouts should read it.

L. S. Fultz, Prop., of grocery store, 711 Depot Ave., Dixon, says: "Occasionally I get weak through my back and when I have such an attack Doan's Kidney Pills always relieve the trouble. They are an excellent medicine for kidney complaint and I highly recommend them."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Fultz had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.
